

Quince

Balancing Love and Power – Yin and Yang Expressing Loving Strength

- ☒ Quince connects us to both our feminine and masculine power so that we are able to draw on an integrated loving strength where male power is balanced with feminine understanding. It is an excellent essence when we are either too dominant or unable to assert ourselves in a healthy way.
- ☒ Quince enables us to integrate energies of the heart and solar plexus chakras. Instead of trying to force things to go our way using our will or feeling too passive and overcome by our feelings, this essence encourages us to use our will as an intelligent support to the guidance of our heart.
- ☒ This essence can be very helpful for those of us who have developed armouring to protect our hearts from past hurts and who feel it is dangerous to be vulnerable as well as bringing a powerful, assertive energy at times when we find it difficult to express our needs and ensure that they are met.
- ☒ This essence is particularly significant in helping parents strike a healthy balance between caring tenderness and creating firm boundaries so that their children feel safe.
- ☒ Quince helps the heart to align with the mind. As in martial arts, inner conflict will throw you off-centre and cause you to be ineffective, but if you are inwardly aligned you can use your opponent's energy to unbalance them with minimum effort.
- ☒ Quince calms our inner conflicts over internalised models of masculine and feminine power. We may have seen it expressed in ways that cause us to be afraid of being vulnerable or powerful. This essence brings the yin and yang energy together so that we find a point of powerful inner balance.
- ☒ It is essential that we are able to express both power and love in a balanced way and this essence carries the soul lesson that true power comes from love and that true love brings immense power.
